

French to English Translation Services

MdHSolutions and Jon Wilcox

You're an academic writing in French. To build your list of publications, you need your work translated into perfect, polished, error-free English. But you're up against it. Deadlines are tight and you need to save time.

Look no further. We're here to help. We are two highly competent self-employed professionals who have joined forces to offer you the full package at great prices.

Magali de Haro Sanchez (MdHSolutions) is an accomplished French translator, researcher and consultant.

Before setting up her business, she was scientific collaborator of CEDOPAL and has held research positions with the universities of Liège, Lorraine, Paris-Sorbonne (Paris IV) and Leiden.

Jon Wilcox is a British academic editor, who specialises in translated texts and works by non-native speakers.

He has edited many works by French authors, including 'Greek' and 'Roman' in Latin Medical Texts and Utopie et Réalité de l'Urbanisme. He holds degrees from universities of York and Oxford.

You will benefit from our combined expertise as a seasoned academic researcher and translator who knows the vocabulary of your field and a native-English copy-editor and proofreader with six years of academic editing experience.

We know your subject, preserve your voice, perfect your words.

For more details, get in touch today.

Write to mdhs@mdhsolutions.fr or jonnywilco@hotmail.com